

DAY USE LOCKERS

The building blocks to flexible spaces.

Spacesaver Day Use Lockers serve as the building blocks for the agile work space you want, combined with the storage you need.

Storage in plain sight.

The way people work and learn is evolving, and along with it, the way they interact with the spaces that surround them.

Designing an environment to accommodate these changes requires a human-centered approach, one that gives equal weight to function and aesthetic. Spacesaver Day Use Lockers live at this intersection, allowing your organization to adapt to the need for more convenient, flexible spaces, while blending seamlessly with your building's overall design.

The building blocks for personal storage in a flexible work environment.

Day Use Lockers provide a unique storage solution that combines the durability of steel construction with the aesthetics of a full overlay door in HPL or steel. The lockers can be grouped together to form:

Locker Wall

Integrate storage into the construction of your space to maximize square footage, and provide meaningful and convenient storage built in to the perimeter or your floor plan.

Locker Partition

Divide your space with locker partitions to limit permanent construction, provide flexible boundaries, and break up open office noise.

Locker Island

Standalone islands for combined collaboration and workspace areas with integrated locker storage for personal items below.

Storage that enhances your brand.

Day Use Lockers provide a secure way to store personal items wrapped in a sleek design that is customized to enhance the aesthetics and experience of your brand.

WORKPLACE DESIGN

Whether it's a locker wall, partition, or island, Day Use Lockers serve as the building blocks to create your dynamic space. With personal space at a premium, keep your offices open and collaborative to make a positive impact on your employees' work life.

Keep open spaces clutter-free by providing space to stash personal items in secure day use lockers.

LOCKER WALLS IN ACTION

Give employees designated space in flexible offices.

Locker walls are the smartest use of space to consolidate and protect employees personal belongings, while also granting them the ownership and peace-of-mind knowing that their items are protected, and out of sight. This not only streamlines and declutters the office space, but allows employees to remain more focused and flexible to move and adapt to their daily needs without worrying about bringing all their items with them.

EXPANDING THE APPLICATION:

For added convenience, add small locker banks to your employees' immediate work space, allowing for quick accessibility to personal items or company tools, right where your employees need it most.

Provide secure storage when flexible offices cause employee's daily workspace to change.

EDUCATION DESIGN

Education spaces of the future encourage student success by providing a variety of learning spaces suited to different styles. It enables collaboration and focus, but also rest and balance. Its adaptability ensures it can keep up with the ever-changing landscape of learning.

LOCKER PARTITIONS IN ACTION

Give students the focused space to learn.

When students and staff need a secure place to stow their bag while they're in a classroom, lab, testing center, dining hall, or gym, Day Use Lockers are the perfect solution for keeping items nearby, with locking systems to provide ease and peace of mind.

This example demonstrates lockers being used as islands, partitions, and built in walls to maximize space.

Day Use Lockers provide education spaces the efficient and accessible storage options they need, while encouraging a unique and inspiring environment by partitioning different space functions into manageable, focus-driven spaces to achieve maximum learning potential.
